-2 appointments Dyfus missed 1st during snow storm
2nd was on this ---- where they said they were at our door knocking and ringing the bell
And the next day they left a message saying they were there and there is definitively no way that was possible because we were home all day waiting for them to arrive my wife had taken the day off because she was not feeling well that day and dyfus is trying to claim that we missed our cell phone ringing the doorbell and them knocking now we just don't play our music that loud we were playing a new game that I had bought from toys r us the night before.

More recently when Sia was in the hospital with a staff infection and we live across the street from the hospital when we asked them to come see the house that night when they came to the hospital they refused. Instead they put another hospital hold on our daughter when if they were really interested in making sure we were compliant and our home is safe they would have taken the time to walk across the street rather than trying to make us look non-compliant in the courts eyes and trying to unnecessarily drag this process out.

For future appointments of dyfus coming to visit our house I would ask the court to set the date and dyfus comply to the courts date and no longer try making our family out to be non-compliant.

We being my family have recently went through the process of being evicted and we are now trying to resettle our families financial situation being as I was recently laid off from my job. The baby was left with the grandparents while Shay and I were trying to find an apartment and I was staying with friends. Any appointments missed that were legitimately missed were my fault I was traveling into the city and out of state to try to find employment so I was not canceling I was rescheduling. I had an opportunity to get a job and was merely trying to not miss an opportunity to be gainfully employed.

As far as any and all appointments missed with my therapist Phil Linfante being as how we more being me Lee was unemployed at the time I was under a lot of stress and pressure to not let my family down I was not trying to skip out on therapy I was just trying to find a job and pay past due bills. I have recently put myself onto anti-depressants to help me from feeling overwhelmed. Being overwhelmed can not be misconstrued as bi-polar disorder 1 in 4 Americans currently suffer from some form of depression which can range from the loss a family member to a reoccurring memory such as the loss of our son or simply a family member with a current health condition impeding their progress into the next stage of their life. One of these conditions to consider is misperception when other people want to tell you the problem is with you and you have no way to convince them they are merely misinterpretations what you are saying and they then begin to put words into your mouth that are not yours. If there is a diagnosis for this I would like to (Know if not It): is something that needs further discussion. The reason I ask this Question is because of my personal up-bringing(my mother) not letting go of the fact I'm like my father bottom line Munchausen syndrome. Solution is no-longer throwing in someone's face their missteps and keeping them in prism one day at a time is the only solution for people who cannot let go and hold so tight as if to truly hunt as if that was ever a part of "the-Game"?..... Truth is found in every moment not in the gamble of sending someone down stream because of misuse of a dialect.....or There is no misuse rather misunderstanding stop looking for neglect beautify days are each one we share together in the lights of illumination Love is all around the hemisphere:

“Organization: On 3/18/07 we had a meeting setup with then Cingular Wireless to discuss the possibility of them having exclusive rights to the voting platform for the contest (Redefine The World) The verbal agreement was 1.5 Million dollars. WE being Lee and Shay Kenworthy were told yes we want the idea and the rights for the voting platform with money to be going also from the votes back to the (Red Campaign): The full extent of our business plan was in fact emailed to multiple companies including: Sandbox : who at the time was working with t-mobile and loved the idea but would not sign any form of compensation agreement and continued to ask my wife and I to work for little to no compensation: Their contention was that they had funding on the way and I Lee Kenworthy had a discussion with one Veronica Kovachi who was co-founder and co-creator of sandbox yet apparently not respected as such: The discussion was about funding for “Lee and Shay” to come aboard in their company with permanent positions. Veronica stated that they wanted my then pregnant wife to leave her then paying job earlier for short term. To develop a human resources platform for Sandbox: The compensation veronica and I discussed was on a freelance basis and it was 40,000-60,000: Veronica stated that would not be a problem at all and she then told me that they would like me to set up their cell phone platform: This conversation occurred before we shared with them our idea for:(Redefine The World):being as how I had just come from working with Cingular wireless and could help them with connections in that company to possibly get their platform on their service. When I told them I could do that they were extremely excited it was at this point that we shared our idea for redefine the world: We then came to realize there was a snag with their funding and they being the “owners” “founders” of sandbox

“Once we did present the Idea to them they loved it and began to claim it was not original enough as they tried to pass it off as their own idea and began telling (us) Lee And Shay Kenworthy that there was a problem with their funding when we my wife and I began to identify the problems they were having within their organization such as a :”

corporate takeover artist to be named at a latter date who profited off Deaths in the WTC tragedy: They then began to push us out by having our car towed where guns were pointed at both me and my wife at the time 7 and half months pregnant were I was forced to defend us and tell them to put their weapons down that we had lost our son and this is blatant intimidation. Multiple promises from members of sandbox were then given of we will pay for the tow how much is needed? Yet no one actually produced the money and the Expedition was towed away.
